

The Louet High Speed Flyer uses either the hook or eye. Yarn can be spun on the flyer very evenly by first sliding the eye/hook forward on the flyer. Do this frequently as you spin, so that no ridges build up. (This is especially important with fine yarn.) The Louet High Speed flyer has a similar action to the Woolly-Winder, but unlike the Woolly-Winder (which is automatic) this high speed flyer allows the spinner to hand control the hook/eye, and does not jerk the yarn.
